

Cervical Cancer Awareness Month

For the first time in history, A cancer can be eliminated!

What is Cervical Cancer?

Cervical cancer is the growth of abnormal cells in the lining of the cervix, mainly caused by prolonged HPV infection

Regular screenings and vaccines are vital for early detection and treatment.

What is HPV?

A widespread virus that can cause genital warts and cancers, including cervical cancer.

Preventable with vaccination.

4th

Most Common Cancer
in Women Globally and Claims
300,000 Deaths

Statistics

6th

In the Eastern Mediterranean
Region and Claims
47,000 Deaths

How to Eliminate Cervical Cancer?

The Global Strategy to Eliminate
Cervical Cancer Proposed Targets by 2030:
90-70-90 to End Cervical Cancer

90%

of girls fully vaccinated with the HPV vaccine by age

70%

of women using high-performance test by age 35 and again by age 45

90%

of women identified with cervical cancer receive treatment

What can you do?

Encourage yourself and others to

Get Informed,
Get Vaccinated
Get Screened

